Quickly she was driven to the undertaking concern's office.

She was met there by her husband, Dr. Judd; her brother, Burton J. McKinnell, and Attorney Russill.

She was said to have been exhausted and in an extremely nervous condition when she arrived at the retreat.

They hastily put her to bed, dressed her wound again, gave her egg-nogg and other stimulants, and advised her that surrender was advisable.

Bursting into the room where the woman was held, police officers had a scuffle with Dr. Judd and McKin-mell when they tried to serve the murder warrant. Malloy was declared to have been hiding the suspected woman. He was struck on the nose by one of the officers, and retreated. The warrant was served

This possibility, and the impending visit of Vice President Charles Curtis were two of the most interesting features of the final days of the conference. Just Once Too Often

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 23.—(P)
A bright red airplane has been bothering Mrs. Robert Quigley, but it looks now as though it will not annoy her any more.

In it was her husband, who, she said, went across the state line into Illinois ahead of a warrant charging non-support. Magistrate Calls Cops

As Bottle Caps Boom
CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(P)—Police Magistrate Frank Strange, of suburban Elmwood Park, phoned the police headquarters.

"Help!" he cried, "burglars are shooting through my back door."
Investigating officers made a hurried trip to the Strange home, drew their pistols, and closed in upon the back porch.

Finding no burglars, they broke in.

The magistrate explained later that the bottles they found explod-ing contained nothing but grape-state said.

Slate's testimony was the highlight of the probe of conduct of school affairs which the school committee of council was ordered to conduct by council resolution. Members of the 1930 Club, headed by Dr. Horace Grant, had demanded the inquiry.

"I said in 1929, and I have not changed by mind, that Sutton was incompetent," Slate told the committee. "The committee of council investing the rules the board of education and dictates its policies. When a rule is passed that he does not like, he ignores it and the board.

"The hue and cry that Atlanta schools must be closed for lack of funds is the direct result of misman-agement. I have tried to prevent what I considered extravagance, but have been outvoted. I am in a small minority. There are 14 members of the board."

Examination of nearly a score of witnesses was conducted by Thomas Slappey, attorney for the club, and Dr. Grant. Slappey assailed "the idea that a school superintendent the city is paying $7,500 a year to should be permitted to be absent for a whole year on outside work."

Mrs. J. R. Wakefield, prominent in civic circles and publisher of a weekly paper, defended Sutton and laid the Tunney H. Crow Dies in Fall Down Elevator Shaft at Dempsey Hotel.

MACON. Ga., Oct. 23.—(P)—Tun-ley H. Crow, 23. plunged to his eath down the construction elevator haft of the Hotel Dempsey annex arly this morning, a few minutes fter he had checked in for the day's look.

A. H. Horne, in charge of the donkey engine operating the hoist, said Crow was standing on the landing platform at the eighth floor level talking with two other workmen. He rang the bell to go lower to his work, but had only one foot on the elevator floor and the other on the platform. "When the hoist started down it jerked Crow around and he lost his balance." Horne said. "He tried to catch the framing on the side but couldn't reach it, and he was gone down the shaft before the two men he had been talking to could move. He came down head first."

Investigation showed Crow's head struck the framework of the shaft near the bottom, causing instant death. His skull was crushed. H. Horne, in charge of the

Georgian Shot as Extortion Plot Is Foiled by Moultrie Officers

MOUL/TRIE, Ga., Oct. 23.—(47)—
A 40-year-old tenant farmer was shot and wounded by an efficer last right at a spot where O. W. Smith, wealthy plantation owner, had been warned in an anonymous letter to place $200 under pain of having his "houses and barns destroyed."

Officers identified the wounded man as Lowen Cantrell. The shooting took place on the steps of a negro church 14 miles north of here late last night and word of it reached here today.

Smith and his son drove there at the time designated in the letter and deposited a decoy package. Shortly a derivated a man appeared. He stooped over to pick it up and Deputy Sheriff John Sims fired a shotgun. The man fled from the scene with several buckshot wounds. Officers arrested Cantrell at the home of his father-in-law several hours later. Officers said a number of other prominent farmers had received threatter saying he had "better place $200 if you don't want your houses and barns destroyed." Group Sponsored by Dean

RONALD COLMAN STARS

IN FEATURE AT GEORGIA Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, playwrights, have taken Ronald Col-man for a ride in "The Unholy Garman for a ride in "The Unholy Garden," which comes tomorrow at the Georgia theater. Not in the Chicago sense, however. The famous writing team have provided Samuel Goldwyn's romantic hero with a screen vehicle which lands him in the Algerian desert. In that far-off land dramatic adventures befall Colman. A new type of role was wanted for him, as he is one star who refuses to be stereotyped. This is borne out by the variety of characters he has portrayed in recent years. Here he portrayed in recent years. Here he portrays the role of a swashbuckling rogue who becomes enmeshed in a gang of cut-throats in a crime colony in the Algerian desert.

REJECTED SUITOR HELD FOR ARSON

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.-(P)-A rejected suitor and two youths were held responsible by police today for a rooming house fire which took two lives.
Three others suffered burns.

Promissory notes amounting to $2,000, to be sold at auction October 30, were not seized by the government from Walter C. Taylor, former city clerk of Atlanta, but were voluntarily given to the internal revenue department in payment of income taxes which Taylor contends that he does not owe, Taylor said Friday night.

Taylor said that he received the notes in payment of a parcel of real estate sold with the understanding that he would tender the notes in payment of contested taxes pending settlement of the dispute as to the amount due. J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, announced Thursday that the notes will be sold at public auction on the steps of the Fulton county courthouse at noon on October 30.

T. K. Glenn, chairman of the advanced gifts committee of the campaign, and head of the Emergency Relief Committee, repeated his former descriptions of the need.

"Hundreds will be without food and clothing this winter unless every person with a job gives to this fund," he said. "We need a great amount of money and help—need it vitally and urgently."

Indications of widespread recognition of this need came in reports of contributions far shead of those in other years. Jackson P. Dick, chairman of the industrial groups division, reported some of these.

Postoffice employes, Mr. Dick announced, last year gave $2,200, this year they have given already $4,395, and the end is not in sight. Employes of the Retail Credit Company, who last year gave $1,613, already have contributed $5,593, he said; and a group of employes of the Rogers Stores who last year gave $722 have given $1,135. One department in city half which contributed in 1930 only $46, this year has given $168, and a group of employes of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad who gave last year $254 have contributed $1,066 this year, with more to come.

Gifts Are Larger.

Contribution of $420 by a group of Woolworth employes who last year gave $152; gifts from every employe of the Exposition Cotton mills who makes $100 a month or more, and 100 per cent contributions by the Puritan Chemical Company, Franklin Plan of Georgia. Borah today asserted the Versailles trenty must be revised and that if it is not done peaceably it will be done by force.

The committee of which Borah is chairman must pass upon any treaty that may result from the French premier's visit, before it is submitted to the senate for ratification.

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT OUILLEN

My Dear Louise:

Fifty years ago, middle-class parents in America were uniformly eager to get their daughters "married off" young. Once past 18, a daughter began to be an economic liability; five years later, her inability to win a husband was almost a family disgrace. But it was dread of another form of disgrace that made parents such eager

Their theory is that the small boy's tendency to steal should be overcome by making their legal. If modern youth, unschooled in selfrestraint, is unwilling to preserve its chastity while waiting for marriage, the thing to do is to humor it by encouraging some form of ex-perimental marriage that will make immorality respectable! The modern theory, it seems to me, is no less insulting than the secret fears of old-fashioned parents. Both are based on the assumption that girls haven't character enough to keep their virtue intact if matrimony is long delayed.

I mention these matters only to explain that I have no share in them. If you must support a candidate who is the choice of gamblers, it is well to explain that you favor him only because of his honesty and ability. I favor early marriage, but not for any reason that would shame I believe people should marry young, as they should choose a career

The most unhappy of people are those who hunger to love and be oved and yet can find no one who seems worthy of their adoration. Believe me, my dear, it is no easy matter to find a perfect man or woman after you reach 30. By the time your judgment is good enough to pick an ideal mate, you have lost the imagination that makes imperfect people You still seem a kid to me, but I'd rather see you fall head-over-heels in love and marry some clean young hustler when you're 21 than to wait ten years and marry the greatest and richest man in the country. WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(P)—

William E. Borah, the senate's champion irreconcilable on American-European political ties, today told French newspaper correspondents accompanying Fremier Laval the world needed revision of the Versailles treaty with Germany.

He warned that if this did not come peaceably it would come forcibly. He believed it fundamental for world restoration.

Willing to cancel war debts owed America by the allies if they will cancel Germany's reparations payments. Senator Borah expressed the belief that such a move would have a "tremendous psychological effect on the people of the world."

However, he said the time for any extension of the moratorium on intergovernmental debts had passed.

extension of the moratorium on intergovernmental debts had passed.

Leaning forward in his place as chairman of the foreign relations committee, with the eagerly questioning French correspondents circling him around the imposing committee table, Borah answered questions "frankly, if not diplomatically," as he put it.

He has never gone abroad and it was one of the few times he permitted himself to be quoted by foreign newspapermen—as well as Americans—in a rough and tumble interview, which the French writers had requested.

"You want me to speak frankly?" he asked with a smile as the Frenchmen began at the outset with the pertinent question of disarmament.

"Yes, yes," came back the cries and the throng of Washington newspapermen standing around the committee table behind the seated Frenchmen picked up their pencils. There followed a dynamic half hour.

It was noted that the Japanese spokesman said nothing about the privately expressed demand that China recognize the validity of existing treaties. In some quarters this smission was interpreted as "progress" in the Japanese attitude.

M. Yoshizawa replied that these bombings were indeed "most unhappy events" and added, "they were done against the will of my government."

If Putno shows any of the drive of which he is capable, there likely will be a renaissance of that missing offensive punch which has marked the play of the down-trodden Petrels to this stage of their season. Oglethorpe is quite ready for a revengeful Furman team, which will exert every effort to efface that surprise defeat at Hermance field last year, which followed a Furman tipset victory over the University of Elorida.

There have been more colorful teams this fall than one usually finds. The increased strength of such teams as Columbia and Cornell help. Prince to and the Navy haven't come to anything like their top form yet, but they still have good chances to show heavy improvement.

Particular attention having been devited to the offensive, the Petrels are expected to show marked improvement over previous ball-carrying efforts which have netted but 14 points in four games.

'Our Gang' Gridders To Entertain Fans

Fans at the Oglethorpe-Furman game today at Hermance stadium will be offered an added attraction in the form of the "Our Gang Club," playing its first public game of the season.

The club, trained and managed by Fritz Orr, is composed of youngsters between the ages of 6 and 10, and is divided into four squads.

Two are made up of gridmen from 8 to 10 years old, and the other two of lads ranging from 6 to 8.

The Red Devils and the Bluebirds, the older teams, will play a 15-minute game between the halves of the Petrel-Hurricane battle. They will be dressed in the conventional garb of grown-up teams and everything will be just as it is in the better college tilts.

The "Freshmen." or the Kelly Greens, and the Purple Wave, the younger squads, will sit on the sidelines, probably to disparage or commend the playing of their older club brothers.

TECH, TULANE FIRST STRINGS START TODAY

Tulane people intend writing Grant-land Rice and asking for more credit.

Coach W. A. Alexander met the press today and told them that he hoped for the best, but that his light, green team could hardly hope to cope on equal footing with the veteran Tulane outfit which has already claimed the copyright rights to the United States, Canada and the Scandinavian. The home-coming plans took a new leap forward and the tickets started booming.

The Jackets plan to start their first-string lineup for the first time this season. The boys spent Friday morning going around the Vieux Carre, peering at the Cabildo where the Spaniards used to shoot prisoners, and at the old Absinthe House, where Jean Lafitte used to sip his absinthe frappes.

The List of Unbeaten.

The unbeaten list will be pruned considerably before another sunset arrives. Either Notre Dame or Pitfsburgh will have to step aside, and the odds are it will be Pitt. Either Pennsylvania or Wisconsin must move out of the front row and this is good.

Today, however, he was feeling fetter and asked to start.

Lackey and Goldsmith will be at the ends—It will be Jerry Goldsmith's first rough work in some time, a broken hand having kept him out. Bob Tharpe and Clint Ezell will hold down the tackle positions, with Casey Jones and Ed Laws at the guards.

his Tulane Green Wave will win the ball game, but he is going to shoot his first team in there. There is nothing like pleasing the alumni, and, if the Green Wave can run up the score on the Tech Jackets, they will do so with a surprising willingness.

WELTER TITLE CHANGES HANDS

Brouillard Gets Unanimous Judges' Decision Over Jack Thompson.

BOSTON GARDEN, BOSTON, Oct. 23.—(P)—Lou Brouillard, 20-year-old southpaw from Worcester, won the welterweight cham ionship by giving Champion Jack hompson, negro, San Francisco, such terrific battering that the officials urned in a unanimous decision.
Thompson, who gave a decidedly unturned in a unanimous decision.

Thompson, who gave a decidedly unimpressive performance, appeared burned out. Brouillard had a decisive edge in 12 of the 15 rounds. His heavy but not always accurate left hooks dropped the defending titlist twice, in the tenth with a series of heavy lefts to the jaw and three-rounds later with sizzling hooks to the negro's body.

Brouillard piled up a wide lead carly. His left was seldom idle and he caused his opponent such distress that Thompson tried to convince Referee Johnny Brissil he was fouled when Lou banked over a terrific left that barely landed in fair territory late in the sixth session.

Thompson's hardest blows were landed after he was floored in the tenth and thirteenth. His sudden aggressiveness caught Brouillard off guard but the Worcester boy fought back gallantly and snapped his opponent's rallies off short.

The title bout drew a capacity throng of 18,500 and the gate receipts were announced as $55,000.

After the championship changed hands, Don Covino. Boston welter, outpointed George Brusso, of Worcester, in a wild four-round slugfest.

Thompson was the sixth ring champion to brave that supposed force called the "Boston jinx" in the past two years. All of them met with misfortune, but Thompson was the only one to gamble with his title.

SECOND STRING FOR GEORGIANS

Key and Maddox May Play If Coach Needs Them.

By Jimmy Jones,

Staff Correspondent.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 23.—Classic Athens retired to the background tonight and collegiate Athens sat on the civic throne as spry old grads and leather-lunged young collegians mingled in a spirit of gay festivity that dominated the campus and streets on the eve of the first Georgia-Vanderbilt football game since 1926.

less file of young people went in and out, testified to the joviality of the occasion.

Hotels did a rush business until the "sold out" sign was hung out at the desks and the boys at Costa's jerked soda until they almost collapsed at the faucets.

The presence of three teams in the city—Vanderbilt, Auburn freshmen who came over to administer a 7-0 defeat to Georgia's Bullpups today, and Georgia's Bulldogs—added to the congested atmosphere. So it is not to be wondered at that Athens was pitched on her classic ear tonight.

Tomorrow at 3 p. m. (eastern standard time), the Commodores and Bulldogs will resume football relations that terminated four years ago after McGugin's men won a 14-13 engagement in Nashville.

While the advance sale has been rather light for such as occasion. Charlie Martin, the affable public relations man for the university, predicts a crowd of 25,000.

Martin also stated that there would be plenty of tickets available tomorrow to early arrivals and they would be on sale at Costa's up until 2:30 p. m. Plenty of choice seats are still to be had. The crowd may fall a little below expectations but another throng of alumni and non-partisans is VANDY ARRIVES. VANDY ARRIVES.

The husky Commodores, carrying a few cripples themselves, arrived in the city tonight and Colonel Dan McGugin marshaled them straight to bed. The Vandy team is still somewhat stunned from that Tulane game and several members of the starting lineup are not in the best of condition.

Vernon (Mighty) Close, the capable sophomore field general of the team, is still limping and Captain Amos Leonard, clusive halfback, is conceded very little chance to get into the game

With Leonard out, the passing and kicking burden will fall upon the manly shoulders of Dixie Roberts, while Selman (Good) Fortune, Big Jess Thomas and Tommy Henderson will bear the brunt of the running attack. Vandy's passing game is still in the doldrums with Leonard out, but carries a threat with Close, Thomas and Kirwan in there as receivers.

"We haven't gotten over that Tulane game yet. They took a lot out of us, but I think we will make an interesting game out there tomorrow." Colonel McGugin stated before retiring for a much-needed rest tonight. In Athens, however, there is a pronounced note of optimism. All of Harry Mehre's crippled regulars are ready to go with the exception of Homer Key, the toy pistol half-back with the Big Bertha explosion, and Key may get in there before it is over.

Key may get in there before it is over.

TO PLAY OR NOT.

The question of whether Key is to play or not to play assumed a rather definite trend tonight. Harry Mehre took his boys to a local theater where they were showing a reel from the Yale game. Mr. Key saw himself ambling through the field of Blue for two touchdowns and was so inspired by the memory that he did a hop, skip and jump down the street after the show was over and told Coach Harry Mehre that his knee felt fine. "I won't say that Key won't be in there tomorrow," said Harry Mehre, after watching his young halfback cut capers. "You newspaper boys might accuse me of prevaricating it I said he wouldn't. So you can go ahead and say that Key may play at least 20 minutes and more if we need him."

With or without Key, however, your reporter is convinced that Georgia will win the football game tomorrow. The odds are with the quick-triggered warriors of the Red and Black, for even if they are not in the ideal physical condition, Vandy is no better off.

Roebuck Stronger and

More Experienced; Vac-

turoff Faces Jennings.

What almost amounts to a wildwest show will be put on at the auditorium Tuesday night when two Indians, one a 240-pound Cherokee and the other a 220-pound Osage chief, meet pale-face opponents.

In the main event Frank Speer, popular Georgia Tech tackle for three-seasons, will meet Tiny Roebuck, the giant Cherokee Indian. In the semi-windup, Ivan Vacturoff, 230-pound Russian, will battle Sun Jennings, Osage Indian.

Speer's appearance is a feature to which Atlanta mat fans have been looking forward. He made his debut here last week and won in a short match when Cy Williams, his opponent, dived from the ring trying to make a flying tackle, and wound up with his head against the edge of the press table. He was out for 30 mindutes.

STRONGER FOE.

Speer will be meeting a stronger opponent in Roebuck, the Cherokee. Roebuck is more experienced, but Speer asked for the match when offered two opponents from which to choose. Roebuck started wrestling after a football career at Haskell institute, the Indian school. Speer figures that he can win if he goes about it fast enough.

it fast enough.

Speer has trained hard since he's started in the mat game. His progress has been fast, and he is rated as one of the best of the youngsters who started in the game this year.

Many of Speer's old friends will be at the ringside to see him against the big Indian. The match is a real feature.

JENNINGS VETERAN.

JENNINGS VETERAN.

The semi-windup offers a new-comer in Sun Jennings. Jennings is a veteran in the game. He weights 220 pounds and has been winning a good share of his matches. Promoters-guarantee that he will be a real opponent for Vacturoff, the Russian giant.

giant.

Vacturoff has had two matches in Atlanta, losing one to Roebuck after a battle of about an hour. He is a big, powerful fellow.

Main interest, of course, centers in Speer's match. He is the first Atlantan to enter professional heavyweight wrestling. If he can avoid Roebuck's crotch hold he has a chance to win.

Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont. Hatters and at the Pryor street coffee shop. Ladies, as usual, will be admitted to any seat for $1.

In the case of less important games from a sectional standpoint, I am picking Purdue to defeat Carnegie Tech. The Chicago-Indiana game looks like a tie—either may win. Columbia will defeat Williams. Dartmouth will win from Lebanon Valley. Utah, last year leader of the Rocky Mountain teams, will defeat Denver. Although Alabama Poly has a fine record, Florida will be the victor. Michigan State will defeat Georgetown. I have no doubt but that Minnesota will defeat Iowa or that Nebraska will win from Kansas. bere today. The final score was 28 to 0.

Brewer ripped through the Deacon forward wall at will, alternating at crashing center, and hitting tackle or guard on either side. At other times he busied himself with circling the ends and receiving forward and lateral passes. Laney showed up well as a running back and punted effectively. He passed often, but the Blue Devil receivers were unable to hold the ball, a number of times with a clear field ahead. Emery Adkins, Duke's center, and Pap Harton, huge tackle, were outstanding in the line. Dupree and Captain Brogden stood out in the Wake Forest line, while wilson and Shinn did the best work in the backfield.

Juniors, Freshmen To Clash Today

Emory's junior and freshman football teams ran signals, punted and held dummy scrimmage Friday aftermoon in preparation for their game at 9:30 this morning on the new field. The juniors, under Coach Jimmy Lester, have not been defeated this season, having been held to 6-6 scores twice, once by the sophomores, and once by the seniors. The freshmen, under the tutelage of Tom Ellisor and Jimmy Green, have been defeated once and tied once. The game will be close, with the juniors a slight favorite because of their fine showing against the seniors last Wednesday.

Coaches Green and Ellisor announce the following starting lineup: Trussell and Matthews, ends; Davis and Morrison, tackles; Slackman and Land, guards; McCay, center; Everett, quarterback; Heidler and Sessions, halfbacks, and Lipe, fullback. Jimmy Lester was unable to name a starting lineup for his juniors because of so many injuries on the secure of so man Emory's junior and freshman foot starting lineup for his juniors cause of so many injuries on squad.

MAY PILOT BUCS.

There was a possibility today that he might land the managerial post with the Pittsburgh Pirates left vacant by the release of Jewel Ens or that he might continue in baseball as a scout for the New York Yankees or a pitching coach, the same job he left with John McGraw and the New York Giants, when he took over the reins at Brooklyn.

His successor, Max Carey, is 41 years old, schooled in the modern style of play that came into baseball after Robinson's spectacular days as a catcher for the old Orioles.

For 10 years, with Pittsburgh, Max was one of the National league's outstanding outfielders and base stealers, reaching his peak in 1916 when he stole 63 bases. He broke into baseball as a shortstop with the South Bend team in the Central league in 1909, came up with Pittsburgh in 1911, and quit the Pirates in the middle of the 1926 season after a row with Fred Clarke, then assistant manager of the club.

Foster handled all details for the welcome and did a corking good job.

The Foster family is a very famous one in athletics. Albert Foster Sr. was quite a pitcher at the University of Georgia. Never a game did the elder Foster lose while he was curving them as a collegian.

His brother, Floyd Foster, was a crack outfielder at Georgia, and an uncle, Frank Foster, was captain of Yale's baseball team in 1874 and 1875. He is generally credited with being the first man in Georgia to catch from under the bat.

INTREPID FRANK.

Vandy's reserves were the team's real handicap, this having been shown in both the Tulane and Ohio State games.

The Commodores weighed anchor tonight and steamed away for Athens to the echo of rousing cheers.

Madison was in a gay football humor as Wallace Butts' Madison Aggies, the local eleven, defeated Richmond academy today, 59 to 19. The mond academy today, 59 to 19. The total the first man in Georgia to catch from under the bat.

INTREPID FRANK.

Tomorrow night the Greeks will take charge of Athens. There is another big dance booked, in fact there are more Greeks around here with winsome girls on their arms than there are in the original Athens across the water.

It seems that when the college Greek meets Greek, they immediately start a dance.

The team was reported to be in fairly good condition, although several players, including Vernon Close, evaluate the total players, including Vernon Close, and the total players, including Vernon Close, and the total players, including Vernon Close, who is called "Mighty" for the sake of the pun, was limping slightly. Jess Thomas and others had more injuries.

"We're not in the best shape in the world and Captain Leonard will not be able to play, but we have improved slightly since the Ohio State and Tulane games." MeGugin stated.

Dixie Roberts will do most of the kicking and passing tomorrow in the able to play, but we have improved slightly heavier than the Bulldogs, but the latter have the edge on offense and in the all-important matter of reserves.

The Vandy coach will start same lineup that opened against Tulane. The light but effective Peter Gracey will be at center, Talley and Beasley at guards. Leyendecker and Moore at tackles, Kirwan and Foster at ends, Close at quarter, Thomas and Roberts at halves, and Chuggy Fortune at full.

The Commodore passing attack is not at its best with Leonard out, but Close, Thomas and Kirwan are reputed to be clever receivers and Roberts a capable passer.

Suppose that South had bid one diamond. Here again he cannot make his contract, nor can North, with his singleton diamond, effectively rescue him.

Suppose, finally, that West bids one heart. (This would, as I have said, be indefensible, as A 10 9 x is not a biddable suit.) His part-is not a biddable suit.) His partner will raise him to two hearts and once again the contract is likely to fail. West can make two hearts at Double Dummy but in actual play he is very likely to blunder.

No! The hand is one which exemplifies—from whatever point of view we regard it—the paramount virtue of restraint.

TODAY'S POINTER.

What does a minimum raise mean? Suppose I have bid one of a suit and my partner raises me to two. What does this mean? It means, first, that my partner has from 3 1-2 to 4 (more rarely, 3 only) supporting-tricks. Second. that he has either four trumps or Q x x at least. Without this minimum trump support he should give me notump or another suit.

Opening bia: one spade value of the hand from a bidding point of view will depend upon these two factors.

East is the Dealer. His hand is worth 2 1-2 honor-tricks—a sufficient minimum for an Opening bid. The A Q x of diamonds are worth 1 1-2 honor-tricks; the K x of clubs and Q x of hearts are together worth 1 honor-trick more. But East has no biddable suit. He cannot bid diamonds with A Q x only, nor spades without an honor in the suit. Nor is East's hand worth a bid of one notrump, vulnerable. He has an unpromising distribution and no establishable suit. East therefore passes. Look next at South's hand. Many beginners would here embark on a diamond bid. There is a nice-looking suit (headed, it is true, by a minor tenace) and a formidable array of honors. But such a bid would be fatal; it would not be sound even if South were not vulnerable, for South has not the requisite minimum honor-strength 2 1-2 honor-tricks. His K J x of diamonds are worth 1 honor-trick; his K x of spades are worth 1-2 trick more, but his K J of hearts without a third card, are only worth another 1-2 trick. Under no circumstances, therefore, should South open the bidding.

Now for West, who holds the best the bidding. Now for West, who holds the best hand of the four. Here, as with East, there is the requisite minimum honor strength. The A Q of spades are worth 1 1-2 honor-tricks; the Ace of worth 1 1-2 honor-tricks; the Ace of hearts—is worth another trick, and there remains the Queen of clubs as a plus value. Why then should West not make a bid? Because, like East, he has no biddsble suit. He cannot open the bidding on four hearts to the A 10: nor yet, with only two suits guarded, can he properly bid one notrump. In any case he would hesitate to open on so weak a hand when

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be dis-cussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

When we were children one of our favorlte games was to take a big word full of vowels and see how many smaller words we could make out of the big one by transposition of the letters. Nowadays people are doing the same thing with marriage and some of the results are astounding. Out of the morning's mail bag there fell three letters on marriage that represent some queer combinations. The first one asks for no comment. The second case is hopeless because it is pathological. Rather I should say it is hopeless as long as it is pathological; and the third is brimming with hope because love is left. Love is the vowel without which no good marriage words may be made.

Number One.—"For 20 years I have put up with a worthless, philandering husband. If in that time he had showed any sense of responsibility for his support and mine I could have overlooked his infidelity. If he had been faithful I could have overlooked his worthlessness. But he failed me in every way he could and I am going to divorce him. I am not asking your advice. I have made up my mind. I am not asking your sympathy. I have suffered in silence so long that I wouldn't know what to do with sympathy if I got it. I am happy to have reached a decision that I have tried to reach for 18 years and I must speak out. A newspaper column seems to be a very good place to tell the world what a burden is lifted off my shoulders. I may yet regret it, for some women have told me that no matter how worthless and mean a husband may be he gets a hold on a woman's affections and she doesn't know what a hold until she cuts him loose. I'll take the chance. And if every vestige of love I once had for my husband isn't dead I will be surprised.

I hope she's right. She certainly has legal and moral and sentimental reasons for her decision. The tragic-comic part of such a marriage is that the very fact of the husband's worthlessness and his dependence on her awakens the unconscious maternal instinct of love toward him which will not be stifled by a divorce.

Number Two.—"After five happy years of married life, when my husband seemed as contented and happy as I, we have come to a parting of the ways which is as mysterious to me as a Houdini trick. My husband became, all at once, moody and restless. He wanted a big crowd around him all the time, I was worried over the great change in him. Finally one day he came in and said to me, Well, I'm through. 'What do you mean?' I asked. 'I mean what I say. I'm leaving you.' I almost fainted. We had never had a cross word. If he had any outside interests I didn't know about them. I asked him if I had done anything to displease him, if there was another woman. To both questions he replied 'No.' Then I begged him to wait a little while and see if we couldn't adjust matters, but he refused, saying when he was through he knew it and there was no reason to postpone the evil day. He packed up and left me. He went to a distant town to live and work and only recently I checked up on him and found that he was living the life of a recluse, working and going to his room without taking any outside diversion. What can I do? I love him. I don't want to divorce him and he doesn't ask me to."

Number Three.—"Ours could be a lovelier home if my husband were not so indifferent. I want affection and appreciation. He is a good man, never dissipates or anything like that. Our home is always clean and neat and the children are well cared for. I do everything I can to help him get along in the world. There are men who would gladly give me some of the happy times I long for with my own husband, such as going to a show, and to dinner, and other affectionate attentions that my husband denies me. He is always kindly and friendly enough toward the women who come to his office but with me he is either indifferent or sarcastic. Our marriage has barely avoided the rocks on several occasions and I believe the children hold us together, nothing else. I am sure he cares for me, in his own peculiar way. But I am not happy. I am constantly beset with temptations. If he would only pay me a little more attention I would never be unhappy again and would do anything for him for I really love him."

Bertrand Russell in his new book, "The Scientific Outlook," makes a witty comment about theology that can be applied with equal force and truth to marriage: "From having been a straight-jacket, it has become a dressing gown." Number Three.-"Ours could be a lovelier home if my husband were no

Could anyone need a better illustrattion of the point than is contained in the three letters? One woman is fairly intoxicated with the idea of having shed hers. One husband has been brutally frank in telling his wife that he has shed his. The third is playing with the thought to such an extent that she had been out reconnoitering to find out if there are any dressing gowns in her negihborhood that might suit her better than the one she now wears.

BY THE PROVERB CONTEST EDITOR.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1931.

Take a good look at today's $2,300 proverb contest picture. Can you recall the old saying that's illustrated? If you can't, don't be discouraged. It will come to you eventually. It's

It will come to you eventually. It's not necessary to be a checker "shark" in order to find this answer.

The proverb editor has learned that, in a number of instances, proverbs are being used in unusual ways, outside of the contest, for inspirational purposes. Several readers have told him that these inspiring little messages have been posted on church bulletin boards, employed in school work and used as subjects of sermons by members of the clergy. The proverb editor will be glad to lay this interesting suggestion before the publisher. We're thinking about giving the sets that are submitted to hospitals, orphanages who have found various uses for them. who have found various uses for them. He would especially like to hear from ministers who have used or who contemplate citing proverbs or the proverb contest in their sermons.

Many contestants whom the proverb editor has met, or who have written in, have told him that the contest is affording them many hours of pleasant entertainment and that it is proving of educational value.

The office of The Constitution is the distributing point for the free and valuable reference list of 2,000 proverbs, of back pictures, and the book, "Proverbs of All Ages." The book is evidently of great interest to contestants, many of whom have obtained two contestants, in the standard of the contestants. tained two copies—one for use in the contest and the other to place in their contest and the other to place in their libraries or homes permanently. "Proverbs of All Ages" is the only standard reference book on the subjects of proverbs that is guaranteed to include all 80 solutions. This publication, which sells for 50 cents a copy, or 54 cents by mail, was originally placed on sale at the request of contestants.

The list of 2,000 proverbs, which is helpful in solving the pictures, can be had free by calling at the office of The Constitution or by mail for a

The First 25 Are. Question: "Seems to me that I read in one of the past editions of The Constitution regarding the proverb contest that the answers to the first 26 pictures were found in the proverb list. I would like to know if this is true as I find some in the book true, as I find some in the book 'Proverbs of All Ages' that fit the pictures much better than those in the list. I hope my question is not unfair. Mrs. H. E. Hay, Carrollton, Georgia."

Answer: The answers to the first 25 pictures are contained on the circular that lists 2,000 proverbs, as well as in the book "Proverbs of All Ages." The answer for picture No. 26 may or may not be on the circular, which does, however, include the answers for many of the other pictures beyond No. 25.

Somehow Irma got talking about herself as they rolled through the outskirts of Thrace. She wasn't much on talking about herself as a rule. For that matter she wasn't much on really talking. For the most part cut and dried phrases of the day served her. She didn't remember later how she had come to talk about herself. Perhaps he had asked her in so inobtrusive a manner that she had not noticed. She remembered later that somehow or other she had mentioned her father first.

"I should hate to think you'd treat ther like my old man treated me. He deserted mama and me when I was six. What do you think of that?"

"I think it's dreadful, of course, but then you were too young to understand everything."

"I could understand hunger, Mr. Graham. He had no business doing that to me even if mama was the worst woman in the world, which she wasn't. She was wonderful. I'll tell you right now before we get to know each other a bit better than we do—I think men are the bunk. They're all rats from the word go."

What About

How does the suspension of the gold standard by England affect cotton sales? Is the reduction in acreage a certainty next spring? Is now the time to buy cotton?

The above questions have been answered in our special report "THE COT-TON SITUATION." Also the future possibilities in contrast to the present difficulties are thoroughly outlined.

This report is of great value to persons engaged in the different branches of the cotton industry, also to investors holding securities in this field.

A number of these reports are available for free distribution to business men and investors.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The marked hesitancy which characterized the market during the early part of today's session disappeared entirely in the early afternoon with the announcement that a large number of employes of the Gulf, Mablie & Northern had accepted the 10 per cent wage reduction for as long as the road's net fails to cover interest charges. The sharp upturn which followed was characterized by impressive buying throughout the entire list, with particular strength in merchandising general improvement in the retail trade.

SHARP ADVANCE NOTED IN NEW ORLEANS MART NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23,—(49)— While the cotton market was rather quieter than it has been lately, it be came very active and strong in the late afternoon and advanced sharp-ly to a strong close at gains of more than a dollar and a half a bale. Hedge selling was not very much in evidence today and although there was some liquidation by recent buyers, offer-ings were readily absorbed. The mar-ket was supported by steadier stocks. unfavorable weather in the belt and unfavorable weather in tatistics, par-rather bullish week-end statistics, particularly favorable mill takings. Liverpool is due tomorrow 12 to 13 points up on New Orleans.

Liverpool came in 5 to 7 penny points better than due and sterling exchange was lower. Private cables stated that there was some hedge selling offset by trade buying and call-ing. Sterling was seasier. Man-chester cabled that there was a good cloth business with China.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The whole market found support in the stronger tone in that employes of the G., M. & N. system, including some train service employes, had accepted a 10 per cent cut in pay. Another interesting item which appeared at the close with reference to wages was the technical position of the market goes an accepted a voluntary wage reduction. In themselves, these two developments are relatively small, but they may also a contributing factor. This advance over the old high after a heating the resistance during past few days and that selling in the rails Thursday dried up before it resembled renewal of liquidation.

The market acted as if some short interest had accumulated on the decline from 6.85 for December contracts to 6.53 for that position earlier in the week. Covering became more urgent when hedging failed to develop in the anticipated volume during the last hour. A private report issued early in the day estimated ginnings prior to October 18, at 9,050,000 bales, but appeared to have no effect on the market. Traders regarded this as reflecting a very rapid movement of cotton through the gins for the first half of this month, which probably tended to emphasize the comparative ly small volume of southern hedging, and the holding movement in the south.

Liverpool cables said hedging had been absorbed by trade buying and calling in that market and reported a good business in cotton cloths in China. Exports today 31,695, making 1,334,236 so far this season. Port

A. F. MILLER

263 Marietta St.

Tarzan and Om-at clambered back to the vestibule of Pan-at-lee's cave and there, with Ta-den, the three awaited whatever might follow the death of Es-sat, the chief. Silence reigned for some time. The tribesmen looked first upon their dead chief, then at Om-at and the two strangers standing upon his either side. Presently Om-at spoke: "I am Om-at," he cried, "Who will now say that Om-at is not 'grund' of Kor-ul-ja?"

"Can Om-at be our chief," continued the old warrior, "and yet stand at bay against his own people with a Ho-don and that Terrible Man at his sidethat Terrible Man who has no tail? Hand the strangers over to your people to be slain as is the way of the Waz-don and then only may Om-at be "gund." Neither Tarzan nor Ta-den spoke then; they stood watching Om-at and waiting for his decision, a faint smile upon the lips of the ape-man.

Ta-den, at least, knew that the old warrior had spoken the truth-the Waz-don tolerate no stranspoken the truth—the Waz-don tolerate no strangers and take no prisoners of an alien race. Then spoke Om-at again: "Always there is change; the passing clouds, the changing moon, the seasons. Now I, "your 'grund," bring another change. Strangers who are brave men and good friends shall no longer be slain by the Waz-don of Kor-ul-ja." Growls and murmurings greeted this as the warriors eyed each other to see who would lead them against Om-at, the iconoclast. against Om-at, the iconoclast.

MOVIE FAME SOUGHT
BY ATLANTA MIDGET

Frank Darnell, 59, Atianta midget and one of the best-known figures in city hall and sport circles here, Friday was awaiting transportation to Hollywood to accept a movie contract.

Darnell has done odd jobs in the city government for many years, and was once mascot of the Atlanta baseball club. When he learned that a picture is to be made in which small men are needed, he communicated with directors and was told to hold himself in readiness. He formerly was with Al G Field's minstrels and had several years' vaudeville experience.

pressed over the railroad rate decision. Developments at the Atlantic City session of the Association of Railway

A pleasant surprise was furnished by the more optimistic utterances of steel magnates at their semi-annual meeting. The public has become used to the periodical utterances of a number of steel executives, but the statement by E. T. Weir, president of the National Steel Corporation, was recipied with semi-activatives and the statement of the statement by E. T. Weir, president of the National Steel Corporation, was re-

National Steel Corporation, was received with some weight owing to the fact that his company is perhaps the only one in the industry which throughout the depression has been able to show substantial earnings and its dividend earned.

Up to recently Mr. Weir is known to have shared in the pessimism of other steel magnates, so his statement today that "since October 1 our business has improved and I firmly believe we have seen the low point in the steel industry," received unusual attention.

GENERAL MOTORS. Reason for the assertions by inter-ests identified with the General Mo-tors that the regular dividend on the common stock would be paid next month, came to light in the form of a good statement of earnings for the nine months showing $2.08 earned on the stock.

In other words, the company has earned all but 15 cents of its full year's dividend in the first nine months of this year. For the same period last year the company earned period last year the company earne $2.68 a share on the common stock.

WIFE OF M'CORMICK

Jurisdiction Differences Set at Rest by Ruling in Indiana.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 23.—(F)
Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick today lost before the state supreme court her long fight to be appointed sole conservator of the person and multi-million-dollar estate of her mentally incompetent husband, Stanley McCormick, son of Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper.

The tribunal ruled the Cook county

The tribunal ruled the Cook county appellate court erred in reversing a circuit court decision denying her the conservatorship for lack of jurisdic-tion. The decision held service of suit notice upon Stanley McCormick by publication and mail did not confer-jurisdiction upon Illinois courts while he is confined to his estate in Santa Barbara, Cal.

The conservatorship fight was waged through Illinois and California courts with Mrs. McCormick opposing her husband's brothers, Harold and Cyrus Jr., who were appointed co-con-servators with her by a California court. She brought suit in Chicago in 1929 on grounds that she had practi-cally been ousted from the management of her husband's affairs.

The buying which came into the market was aggressive as well as impressive, with final prices around the best. Continued strength in the commodity markets also contributed to the better feeling.

VOLUNTARY WAGE CUT.

The seemingly utopian idea prevalent in Wall Street for a fortnight that railway employes would voluntarily consent to a reduction of 10 per cent in their wages, loomed up vividly today with the announcement that a substantial percentage of the employes of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern system had consented to a voluntary cut in wages of 10 per cent.

This news had a most impressive effect on the railway stocks, which earlier in the day had been languishing, owing to the disappointment expressed over the railroad rate decision.

INCREASED FOR YEAR

Session of the Association of Executives indicated that the railroad executives would ask for some modification of the conditions offered and would accept the higher rates.

New York Central assumed leadership of the forward movement in the rail group.

A year ago the carryover on that date was 4.530,600 bales, of which 3.416,300 were tenderable and 897,300 unfenderable. WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.-(P)-

Of the tenderable 1931 carryover 4,772.800 bales were 7-8-inch to 1 1-32-inch inclusive and 770,300 were over 1 1-32-inch.

Miscellaneous Markets. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Better sales of coarse yarn cloths at firm prices were reported in the unfinished cloth market today. Rayon crepes were help bought at easter prices. Reports of price changes on rayon yarns of the viscose type were current. Buyers were showing more interest in burlap, which was quoted at slightly higher levels abroad.

Wall Street Briefs. NEW YORK. Oct. 23.—Forty-eight chain store organizations, including three mail order concerns, had total sales of $297.121.481 during September, a decrease of 6.2 per cent from the like month last year, a compilation by E. A. Pierce & Co. shows. Aggregate sales for the same organizations for the first nine months this year were $2,809.787,739, a decrease of 4.4 per cent from last year.

New bond offerings during the past week amounted to 320,625,000, compared with no new issues offered in the previous week, and 898,038,588 in the like period last year. The meeting of directors of Crown lerbach Corporation, postponed yesterday cause of lack of a quorum, has been for October 29.

Charles R. Frederickson, chairman of the executive committee of American Colortype Company, announced the sale, subject to approval of the board of directors, of the plant and business of the Thomas D. Murphy Company, manufacturers of art calendars, of Red Oak, Iowa. The name of the purchasers was not disclosed.

Iowa Cattle "War"

Fails To Develop BURLINGTON, Iowa, Oct. 23.—
(P)—No resistance was encountered today as 12 veterinarians, guarded by four troops of cavalry, tested cattle on farms of Jake Eversman and other objectors to tuberculin testing of cattle. It was on Eversman's farm that hundreds of farmers gathered Wednesday night to oppose the tests. They later disoppose the tests. They later dis-persed.

Mr. Morrow was deep in his day's work—Mexican affairs occupied him to the exclusion of all else. He picked up the telephone, his mind still on the paper he had been studying.

Trenton was calling, the operator said—Trenton. N. J. "Governor Larson to speak to Ambassador Morrow," a voice continued, and then the governor was on the wire.

"I want to name you for senator from New Jersey," the distant voice said.

"What's that?" came back the astonished reply. "There must be a mistake here."

But there was no mistake.
